Services Offered

Aventura is a Solutions Provider; security psychiatrists of sort. Tell us your problems and we solve them using the latest future-proof technologies out of the Aventura laboratories and those of our teaming partners. We don't just sell black boxes but assist from the design/consulting phase through product implementation, training and subsequent support.

Aventura Services Include:

- Technical System Design
- Engineering Services
- Quality Control and Assurance
- Security Audits and Vulnerability Studies
- Strategic Planning
- Program and Project Management
- Life Cycle and Logistics Support
- Research and Development

Aventura is unusual in its approach as a solution provider, which happens to be a manufacturer. Traditionally, in the security business there are clear dichotomies as to responsibilities. The process starts quite often with consultants that design and consult; which recommend products and solutions from manufacturers who manufacture; which ultimately are given to integrators who integrate. Aventura is a hands-on “involved” organization working with the end-users from the design-consulting phase through implementation.
