

Border Security Technology Consortium (BSTC) Capabilities Statement

SecureInsights is a consulting and advisory firm focused on security technology and operating in the aviation space. We work with companies to develop concepts into products and to make those products available to the aviation market. The security experience, whether in the lobby, at the checkpoint, or at the gate, is increasingly becoming a key part of the greater passenger experience. We seek out companies with concepts and offerings that respond to the growing need to address passenger experience through improved security technology products. We work with checkpoint design, automated screening lane (ASL), checkpoint CT, and other technology companies to improve passenger experience through more intuitive, efficient and user-friendly security offerings.

We work with innovative businesses, large and small, to help them grow, develop and bring products to market, raise capital, and connect with strategic partners globally. As a small firm, we roll up our sleeves and work side-by-side with clients to provide lean, focused advocacy and consistent, indispensable service. With decades of operational expertise, business and technology experience and regulatory knowledge, SecureInsights propels solutions from concept to implementation. Our comprehensive commitment to driving innovation and our inexhaustible network of resources give us an unmatched track record in successfully launching technologies and developing business for our clients and partners.
