Greetings. Redstone Aviation Group, LLC is a SDVOSB with its headquarters in Huntsville, Alabama. We specialize in AIRBORNE SURVEILLANCE, Manned and Unmanned. We are keenly interested in bringing technical and innovative solutions to the DHS mission to help protect our borders.

Background:

Redstone Aviation Group, LLC (RAG) provides high quality, responsive, reliable, and affordable aviation services, focused on Special Mission Aircraft (SMA) and systems, to meet Customer needs. RAG offers Program of Record style management with Quick Reaction Capabilities agility to enable our Customers to achieve and maintain area of interest awareness and domination. We perform with integrity to earn the trust of the Customer and become the Customer's company of choice for aviation support.

RAG's core capability is management and operation of high and low altitude manned and unmanned airborne intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance (ISR) collection and processing, exploitation and dissemination (PED) services. Ancillary capabilities include maintenance, modification, integration, sustainment, logistics, and data tracking, management and reporting. RAG's management team brings vast experience with ISR operations and programs.

These core and ancillary capabilities align directly with Custom and Border Protection's broad technology interests, including sensors, communications, command and control, data integration/fusion/synthesis, and mobility, among others.

One of RAG's unique features is our Traceability Procurement Asset Control (TPAC) software. TPAC is a multi-module, highly configurable software solution that allows the end user to see consolidated data from federated systems in one easy-to-access place. TPAC features include a portal or dashboard that enables users to quickly understand key performance metrics.

RAG's management team is comprised of former Lockheed Martin program and business development managers who are steeped in culture of integrity and honesty. This culture ensures RAG performs as promised, without compromise. Team experience includes contract program management, military squadron operations and command, and corporate business development. Our senior management personnel have name recognition in their fields of expertise and are known quantities in military aviation circles.

RAG's tag line is "We fly, fix, modify and manage Special Mission Aircraft."

Thank you for considering us as a member of the BSTC team. We stand by ready to serve.

Sincerely,

Mike
